

1 potential for any defense at trial.

2 Furthermore, in looking at the inmate's

3 statement, although, he did not speak about the 4 crime today, it was during the 2004 hearing,

5 where he first admitted to the Board, that he

6 did intend on killing Mr. Mabry on that day. In

7 all of the prior statements, the 2003 Board

8 Report, he states, I just wanted to hurt him.

9 In 1998, he states, I could not kill this man, I

10 only wanted to hurt him, I only wanted to kick

11 his ass. Yet all of a sudden, in 2004, he's 12 changed his tune and now finally admits, I did

13 want to kill him, I did intend to do that. Of 14 more concern to the people of Orange County, is 15 the fact that his 115s have all come recently,

16 over the last four years. And what is of 17 particular note, is all of his 115s and 18 reductions to administrative notices to him,

19 have to do with his work behavior, refusal to 20 serve food, refusal to follow orders, which is 21 of concern because this was a work-related

22 attempted homicide, in this case. And if the 23 inmate is basing the stressing of work, within a

24 control environment, such as the prison

25 facility, what will he do once he's on the 26 outside and he does not have that stable source

27 of bed, food, shelter, as provided to him by the 1 state. It's clear that over the last three or 2 four years, he has had problems with his work 3 functions. Of also note, is the fact that the 4 basically lied today, when we first asked him

5 the question, as far as any sort of membership
6 in a white pride organization, Arian brotherhood 7 type organization. Yet when asked about his 8 tattoos, he does admit having white pride
9 tattoos and it's somewhat a slap in our face 10 when he states, well, it has nothing to do with 11 any sort of white power groups, it's just simply 12 expressing, I'm proud to be a white person. All 13 of us know, that you do not receive white pride 14 tattoos just because you're proud to be a 15 Caucasian in this society. And when you look at 16 those tattoos in reference to his 2004
17 discipline, where he admitted that he followed 18 the advice of other white individuals, that were 19 shot callers, that shows a continuing membership 20 in a white, Arian type gang organization, here 21 in prison. Ah, the other main area of concern 22 for the people, is in the area of anger
23 management and although he's on the wait list 24 for a few good programs, one must wonder why 25 hasn't he undertaken to read books on anger 26 management on his own. I have seen other 27 inmates at lifer hearings, come in, with a whole

1 litany of book reports and dealing with 2 subjects, such as, anger management type issues.
3 I commend him for all of the NA and AA work he's 4 done, but I believe further progress must be 5 done in the areas of anger management as well.
6 And for all those reasons, the people of Orange 7 County, request that his parole be denied.

8           PRESIDING COMMISSIONER BRYSON: Thank 9 you. All right, I'd like to invite Counsel to 10 make a closing statement.

11           ATTORNEY HALL: Thank you. We believe 12 that a, first place, this Panel should start in 13 assessing ah, Mr. Patterson's suitability for 14 parole, should be -- is the insight ah, that 15 he's developed over the years. Ah, the extent 16 to which he has learned that he has gained 17 sobriety, that he has learned how to stay clean 18 and sober, his history of remaining clean and 19 sober because, in fact, his drug addiction, drug 20 usage, really presaged this crime. Here we have 21 a -- a person who grew up in a fairly stable 22 family, being supported by his mother, living 23 with his siblings, attending and graduating high 24 school. Here's a young person, started out 25 working, purchasing a home at the age of 23, you 26 have a person who is on the course of striving 27 to become better and doing better. And in fact,

1 was succeeding, but for the affliction that,
2 unfortunately, affects too many of us, not to 3 many of us, but to many of our young people,
4 which is drug addiction. And this is where ah,
5 ah, my client stumbled. Mr. Patterson stumbled 6 in seeking the illusory, good-feeling, or 7 whatever it is, that drugs do for people. What 8 he has done, however, since this crime, which he 9 takes full responsibility for, this man has 10 never said, I never did it. He's never 11 attempted to ah, shun responsibility. The fact 12 that ah, when he's going through the trial of 13 this case, he talks about defense and when ah, 14 ah, defense strategy -- with his attorney, and 15 all of that -- the fact is that we're not here 16 to retry the case, ah, he was convicted of First 17 Degree Attempted murder. That's a given, that 18 is the record. We cannot go back and change it, 19 nor should we attempt to retry this case. Ah, 20 what we should look at is, what has he done 21 since then. Is he the same person? If we put 22 him back on the street, is he going to go and 23 stalk Mr. Mabry and try to harm him? And in 24 fact, all the evidence shows that that will not 25 be the case. All the evidence shows is that 26 this is a person who has come to understand, the 27 nature of drug addiction, the nature of drug

1 usage and how that relates and impacts his 2 condition, and he has learned that. We look at 3 the -- the psychological report by Dr. Portnoff.
4 Well, the doctor points out that Mr. Patterson
5 in the 16 years since the offense, there is no
6 evidence ah, that he has continued to abuse
7 illicit substances, and has shown an awareness 8 of addiction to them, and the deleterious 9 consequences of that addiction. Based upon his 10 lack of prior aggressive offenses and lack of 11 subsequent aggressive behavior, it seems clear 12 that the commitment offense was not a product of 13 an habitually, aggressive, criminally, oriented 14 individual, but rather an aberration secondary 15 to substance abuse and substance induced mental 16 disorder. Therefore, taking together with 17 clinical data, this suggests that his violence 18 potential at the current time, if paroled to the 19 community would be estimated to be low in 20 comparison with the average inmate assuming 21 continued abstinence from alcohol and illicit 22 substances. Mr. Patterson has presented to this 23 Panel, his clear plan to get into a treatment 24 program through the U-Turn for Christ. Here he 25 has ah, ah, supported environment, a supported 26 community, a community that will address him, 27 continue to address his substance abuse. He

1 understands the need for continued substance 2 abuse prevention, care and counseling and he 3 will continue to do it. On top of that, he has 4 the support of his family and other community
5 people there, to help him to go. He has clear 6 insight, as Dr. Portnoff points out, so he 7 understands what he needs to do. In prison, 8 this Panel knows quite well, that there are 9 certain things that are not like outside in the 10 free community. There are certain constraints 11 ah, certainly ah, inmates have to be careful ah, 12 in -- in -- in trying to preserve their 13 security. Ah, in Mr. Patterson's case, that 14 work stoppage ah, that 115 that he got, there 15 was a clear concern for his personal security 16 that he would not go and serve the trays as the 17 group decided. Now, we can sit and look at it, 18 and say, he should have followed the rules. I 19 think it -- it's -- it's an inadequate
20 comparison to talk about work in the outside 21 community versus work in here. In here, there 22 are people who violate the rules, obtain weapons 23 or if no weapons, use their face or feet or 24 boot, whatever is available to them, to cause 25 harm to other inmates, if they violate the code.
26 And Mr. Patterson did not form any kind of group 27 or -- or agree with any conspiracy to harm

1 another person. What he did was, in trying to 2 preserve, his own security, he did not do the 3 work, he did not provide the -- the work on the 4 trays, as essentially, the group decided to do.
5 This Panel knows that and I would be foolhardy 6 for Mr. Patterson to have crossed that line.
7 And I think this Panel understands that. What 8 Mr. Patterson has done, however, is to do the 9 best he can with his own programming, ah, he 10 understands that he has an anger management 11 problem. And in talking about the lack of anger
12 management classes, as the Deputy District 13 Attorney tries to point, I think that's in -- 14 it's -- it's inaccurate, to the extent that if 15 you look at Mr. Patterson's record, you see, 16 just since the last hearing, he has taken the 17 anger management course offered by Dr. Thomas 18 Gordon, he has done, Advance Anger Management 19 group by Dr. Roscroft, he has done Alternative 20 to Violence and not to mention AA and other 21 programs. So indeed, he has continued to work 22 on his anger management problems. Ah, and 23 certainly, I think that person sitting before 24 you today, I don't think can properly or 25 accurately characterized as a person who 26 continues to have an anger management problem.
27 Here's a person who has not violate the rules by any act of aggression, either as a minor, ah, apart from the commitment offense, he has had no history of violence or aggression against anyone and has ah, throughout the institution, as far as my record shows, he has not committed a 115 involving any violence, any drug or alcohol usage, or possession or use of any weapons.

Again, here's a person who clearly has learned that he causes a grievous harm to Mr. Mabry and is bent on not ever repeating that. Finally, with respect to Mr. Patterson's parole plans, as I mentioned before, and this Panel has seen, he has ah, solid plans, in the sense that he has U-Turn for Christ, he has ah, ah, marketable skills, ah, this is a person who's ready ah, to be paroled at this time. We believe that when this Panel sits to deliberate, to determine whether or not Mr. Patterson would pose an unreasonable risk of harm to the community, if he were to be released, the conclusion has to be that he would not pose an unreasonable risk of harm. The only indication that there may be any
-- any risk of harm, would be if this Panel looks solely at the commitment offense. We -- we contend that that by itself should not suffice. At the time that Mr. Patterson was sentenced, the Court struck the ah, the 1 enhancement for the weapon, stating ah, in the 2 minute order, the Court cannot find ah, pattern 3 of violent conduct and victim was not 4 particularly vulnerable. That was what the 5 Court wrote in the minute order at the time of 6 sentencing. We believe, Commissioners, that Mr.

7 Patterson has demonstrated that he is -- made 8 the best use of his time, here at the 9 institution, that he is ah, he has expressed 10 genuine and deep felt remorse for having 11 committing this crime, that he has demonstrated 12 that he can be out in the community and be a 13 contributing citizen, that no one would be at 14 risk in anyway, shape or form, that he's 15 committed to sobriety. We believe that he has 16 many tools ready to work on his part. The tools 17 that he's learned through anger management, 18 through substance abuse prevention and through 19 his strong religious faith and for those 20 reasons, Commissioners, we ask you to grant him 21 parole at this time.

22           PRESIDING COMMISSIONER BRYSON: Thank you
23 very much, Counselor. All right sir, I'd like 24 to give you this opportunity to address this 25 Panel regarding your suitability for parole.

26           INMATE PATTERSON: Yes, one, I have made 27 many steps and taking many programs, including

1 the ones just mentioned by my Counsel, and also 2 numerous programs since ah, since becoming 3 incarcerated, including a previous -- prior -- 4 Alternatives to Violence, I've taken literacy 5 life skills help program with -- to doctor -- 6 Dr. Torriny ah, I've also taken ah, ah, ah, as 7 we talked about the welding. I completed
8 creative writing, I completed a 12 week
9 addiction recovery program, back in '99,
10 completed a 14 week impact program, victim's 11 awareness, through ah, ah, the prison here.
12 This was also in '99, Entrepreneurial 13 Development, Think and Grow Rich, and I -- I 14 also completed a one year course with the 15 institute of children's literature and writing
16 and publishing, which I just received a diploma
17 for. The -- the Deputy District Attorney stated 18 that I had not -- I was on the list for several 19 programs, I think that that's been clearly ah, 20 contradicted with the fact I've taken numerous 21 anger management courses and every list I've 22 been on -- but he also made a comment that I
23 didn't do any books. And through Dr. Cardswell, 24 I have my chrono, I do read self-help books for 25 therapy and ah, and I -- I feel those are -- 26 those are quite important. And they're in the 27 library, they're available to us and ah, I do

1 take advantage also. Mrs. Cardswell has 2 provided those books ah, partly at her expense, 3 for our benefit and they're all red-labeled 4 books in the library, and ah, and for that 5 particular one there, was Manhood 101 and ah, 6 and it was -- it's man's responsibilities in 7 society from the time of becoming a teenager, 8 when manhood starts, so. So, I think that the 9 record should reflect that I have made numerous 10 changes to not be that individual that I was 11 back in February of 1990, and I hope that the 12 Board today will see that, thank you.

13           PRESIDING COMMISSIONER BRYSON: All 14 right, thank you. We'll now rec -- just one 15 moment. Okay. In accordance with Penal Code 16 Section 3043b, victim's next of kin have the 17 right to adequately and reasonably express your 18 views concerning the crime and the person 19 responsible. And will you please re-identify 20 yourself for the record.

21           VICTIM MABRY: My name is -- my name is 22 Matt Mabry and I'm the victim. About five or 23 six weeks prior to the crime, ah, I had a 24 conversation with Mr. Patterson and it was 25 regarding his anger towards me or the issue that 26 -- that created this whole catastrophe. At that 27 time I -- that's when I learned that Jody was a

1 manic-depressive and taking Lithium and Prozac
2 and on -- these are prescription narcotics, I 3 guess is what they are. To ah, help stabilize 4 his moods, and this conversation was probably 5 about 20 minutes long. And Jody assured me that 6 there were no problems at the end of this 7 conversation, that we were okay. So, over the 8 course of the next five or six weeks, well,
9 during that conversation Jody told me the job
10 was really stressing him out and I asked him, 11 why didn't he quit. He said he couldn't afford 12 to and I told him that we had numerous other 13 jobs going and I could have him transferred to 14 another project if that's what he wanted. And 15 that's what he said he wanted, so I called my 16 direct Supervisor, who handles all that, and a 17 couple of days passed, two, three days, whatever 18 it was ah, when I talked to my boss and then he 19 made some arrangements and then Jody was 20 transferred to another project. Twenty days 21 later is the next time I saw Jody. And that was 22 when he was trying to follow me. The twen -- 23 the next day was the day that he shot me.
24 There's a great span here. When I talked to 25 Jody there wasn't a problem. He assured me 26 there was no problem, there was no issues. So, 27 I don't know if he was lying to me at that time,

1 or well -- I'm -- I'm pretty certain that he 2 was. But he allowed this to -- to brew within 3 him and obviously ruined an awful lot of 4 people's lives. Jody admits that he's got an 5 addictive personality and that concerns me.
6 Obviously he has a violent tendency or resorts
7 to violence 'cause that's already been proven.
8 My concern is, what happens the next time he has 9 a bad day. Obviously there's a concern with him 10 coming back after me, but what about somebody 11 else? I mean, he's in a control environment 12 right now, where he seems to be making great 13 progress and it seems that in his childhood, 14 when he was in somewhat of a controlled 15 environment, he did well. But when he got 16 outside of that, when he moved to California to 17 become an adult, he got involved into drugs and 18 everything else and his whole life kinda, went 19 downhill, to some degree. I believe that he 20 still has an obsession with me, it's been 21 probably, four parole hearings ago, when his 22 plans for parole -- he applied for jobs all 23 around the area where I live, which isn't near 24 where he lived. I mean, there's an hour or so 25 difference, but he had all his references -- 26 that really concerns me. I don't know if that 27 was a threat, I can't buy it as being a

1 coincidence. I mean, he knows where I live. I 2 knew the man for two years prior to this 3 shooting. I'm really concerned about everything 4 that goes on with him, and I -- I -- I don't 5 believe that he tells us the truth. His 6 attitude doesn't suggest any hostility to me, 7 but when I had a conversation five or six weeks 8 prior to the crime, he said he didn't have 9 anymore hostility to me. He seems to be -- it 10 appears to me that he's telling everybody what 11 he needs to -- what needs to be said in order 12 for him to gain parole. Up until the last 13 hearing, he didn't even recall the crime. He 14 said he'd blacked out, and at the last hearing, 15 he stated that he intended to kill me. So I 16 think that again, he's being coached and told 17 what to do, as far as -- this is what it's gonna 18 take for you to get out of jail. When we -- 19 when Jody was transferred to another job, he 20 went to that job and caused some problems there 21 to some degree, was just kinda, maybe 22 argumentative or hostile and he quit that job.
23 And then he got another job on his own and he 24 quit that. So, he had work, but he quit those 25 jobs and at the time of the sentencing, the 26 Judge, or Commissioner at the time, said that he 27 felt that Jody focused in on me as being all the 1 cause for all the problems in his life. And he 2 felt that if he got rid of me, that that would 3 end all of his problems. Well, he has some 4 obsession there and I know he knows right from 5 wrong, but what happens the next time something 6 doesn't go his way? When he's not in a 7 controlled environment, who pays the price then?

8 I don't believe that Jody's fit for parole. I 9 know he's going through the motions, I know he's 10 making progress, but I don't believe that ah, 11 that he's left this obsession with me. If he 12 has, it's been in the last several years and 13 what happens when he gets back out -- if he gets 14 -- crawls back into his addiction? What happens 15 then? Then I have to fear for my life again, 16 and my family's life? According to the State of 17 California, I'm 41 and a half percent
18 permanently disabled, and that's all directly 19 caused by him. I don't have parole. I don't 20 get any rehabilitation, I've gone through 21 numerous surgeries, and I'm permanent, 22 stationary where I'm at. I still work within 23 the same trade, but I can't do what I used to 24 do. I've had to move into more of a Management 25 type role. This -- this has completely affected 26 everybody's life in my family. I'm concerned 27 about my safety, my family's safety and the 1 general public and I don't feel that Jody is 2 telling the truth, and I don't believe that he's 3 fit for parole.

4                   PRESIDING COMMISSIONER BRYSON: Thank
5 you, Sir. We'll now recess for deliberations, 6 the time is 11:30.

1           CALIFORNIA BOARD OF PAROLE HEARINGS

2           D E C I S I O N

3           PRESIDING COMMISSIONER DAVIS: All right, 4       we've reconvened for the decision, in the matter 5       of Jody Patterson. Everyone who was prior in 6       the room has returned to the room, and it's 7       11:45. Sir, the Panel reviewed all information 8       received from you and from the public and relied 9       on the following circumstances in concluding 10      that you're not yet suitable for parole and 11      would pose an unreasonable risk of danger to 12      society or a threat to public safety if released 13      from prison. The offense was carried out in a 14      especially cruel and callous manner. As 15      Patterson's prior job foreman, the victim, Matt 16      Mabry, was indeed particularly vulnerable, 17      driving his pickup truck from the job site, 18      under the scrutiny of the inmate, who was 19      basically laying in wait for him. The offense 20      was carried out in a dispassionate and 21      calculated manner, such as an execution style 22      murder. After failing to take his prescribed 23      Lithium and Prozac for two days, the inmate lay 24      in wait for his former Supervisor, consumed beer 25      and marijuana and shot him with a rifle as he 26      was in his pickup truck. The offense was

27      JODY PATTERSON E-88649 DECISION PAGE 1 8/2/06

1 carried out in a manner demonstrating an 2 exceptionally callous disregard for human 3 suffering, for public safety, that was at risk 4 from the gun fire and you had a clear 5 opportunity to cease but you continued. You had 6 argued with the victim, prior to your -- about 7 your poor workmanship -- prior -- as a dry-8 waller and painter for Rainbow Industries and 9 had just been laid off. As to the motive 10 itself, it was very trivial in relation to the 11 offense. The victim had him transferred to 12 another jobsite, but the inmate returned and 13 surveilled the site prior to the shooting. Sir, 14 you're to be commended for, number one, being as 15 frank as you have today. That's very important 16 and you have been very frank, we believe, with 17 this Panel. Ah, you do not have a significant 18 prior criminal record, you do of course have 19 poly-substance abuse history, which is a major 20 ah, issue, which you have fully acknowledged 21 here today. As to your institutional behavior, 22 you have done commendable programming. You have 23 -- you're consistently been working with average 24 to above average work reports, you have 25 performed self-study, in terms of education.
26 You have completed vocational certificate in
27 JODY PATTERSON E-88649 DECISION PAGE 2 8/2/06

1 welding, which is a marketable skill ah, as well
2 as your prior job experience skills. And you
3 have continuously ah, participated in AA, NA 4 addiction recovery and Anger Management and 5 Alternative to Violence programs. So, this 6 Panel submits that you have in fact,
7 participated in self-help to the -- to a great 8 degree and more importantly, it appears that 9 you've gotten a great deal out of the self-help 10 programs. You've been able to talk to us about 11 the Steps here today and clearly showing you've 12 internalized that information and that you would 13 have tools ready to apply in the outside world.
14 As to your ah, serious disciplinary violations 15 in prison. You have three 115s and the concern 16 of this Panel is the 2004 refusal to obey 115.
17 You also have three 128a's, the most recent in 18 2001, failure to report. 128a's are not 19 nothing, a long list of 128a's shows that there 20 is -- there are issues going on ah, but you have 21 been free of 128a's, now for five years. And 22 you only had three in your history. So you have 23 a reasonable record, with the exception of that 24 last one 115. As to the psychological report 25 for 2006, basically, you're given a good ah, ah
26 good report, it basically supports your parole
27 JODY PATTERSON E-88649 DECISION PAGE 3 8/2/06

1 and you're given a high global assessment of 2 functioning of 90. Hum, you have presented to 3 this Board viable residential plans, as well as, 4 plans for your transition into a society, in the 5 U-Turn for Christ program, and in the marketable 6 skills you have. And you certainly have 7 extensive, extended family support. As to Penal 8 Code 3042 responses, responses indicate 9 opposition of finding of parole -- to finding of 10 parole suitability specifically by the District
11 Attorney of Orange County. In denying you 12 parole for one year, we're placing you on the 13 2007 calendar for your next subsequent hearing.
14 The Board recommends first of all, no more 115's 15 or 128a's. Continue with your self-help, that's 16 been obviously very successful in -- and your 17 succeeding in that program, so continue that.
18 Ah, we also put earned positive chronos, but 19 you're earning them, just by virtue of your good 20 work. Ah, you also have a trade, upgrade it as 21 you have that opportunity. Continue your good 22 program and your outreach and your parole plans.
23 And Sir, ah, I understand how this can appear to 24 be a set-back for you, but actually ah, one year 25 is not very much time, and if you continue in 26 the direction you're going, you have a very good
27 JODY PATTERSON E-88649 DECISION PAGE 4 8/2/06

1 prospect. You appear to be getting a handle on 2 your issues, ah, and we would like to see more 3 distance ah, between ah, for you, from your last 4 disciplinary because we need to be confident 5 that in fact, you are going to be following the 6 rules outside as well as inside. That becomes 7 simple -- simply the issue. Do you have any 8 further?
